P O L A R B E A R

The magic eye reaches out during all the year, searching through every activity and peering in innermost places, preserving incidents and faces included in this book, the record of our trials and realizations of high school days.

The

POLAR
BEAR

Published by the junior class of Highland Park
High School, Highland Park, Michigan, under the direction of Wesley R.
Swift, editor-in-chief, and Robert I. Alpern, business manager, in the year 1937

Foreword

To the students of the Highland Park High School we present this fifteenth Polar Bear as a wish for the future and a remembrance of the past. We have attempted to put into each section the events which best portray our school life,—be they ever so unscientific!

Dedication

To that branch of learning which is fastest developing, which contributes most to our comfort, and makes possible the publication of this yearbook—to modern science and its local emissary, the H₂PS₄ group, our oldest school club, on celebration of its nineteenth year, we gladly dedicate this 1937 edition of the Polar Bear

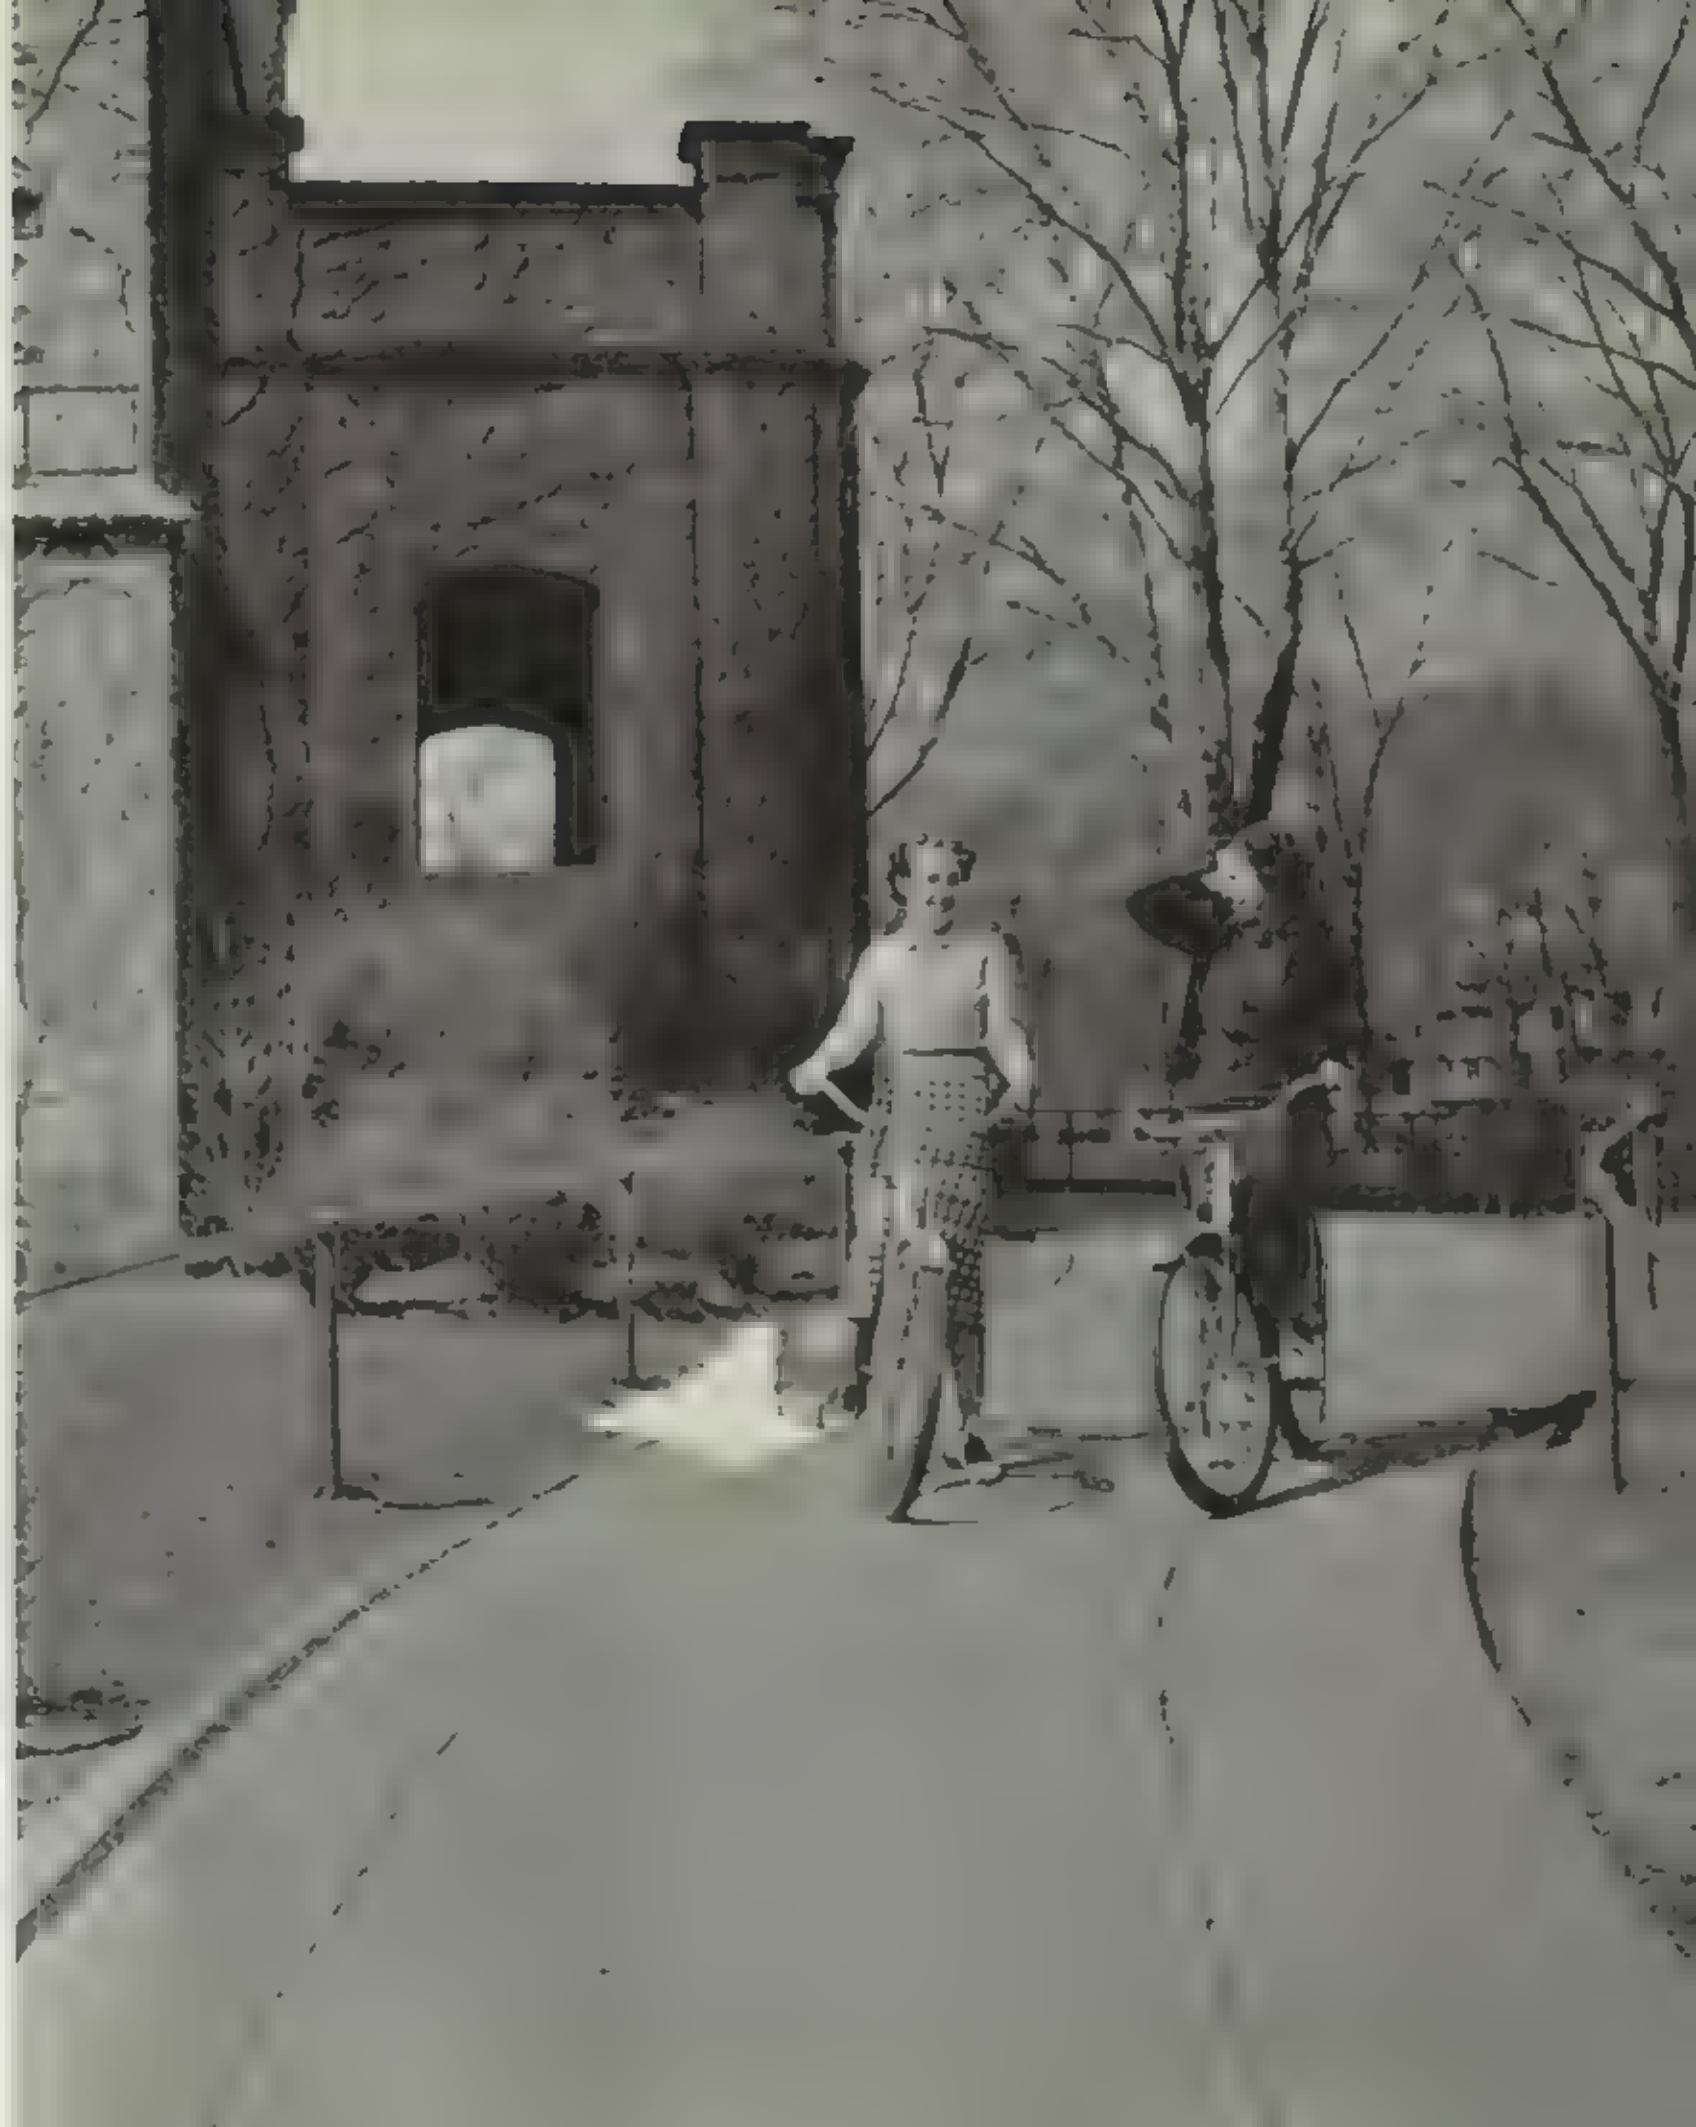

"Tops" on a Fire Drill . . . Chivalry Stages a Come-back

Senior Trip Money Rolls in . . . Cyclists Roll Along

News or the 'Dirt Column'? . . . Where Boy Meets Girl

An endless throng
wends through the halls of our school,
only to completely disappear in three short years and be replaced by other groups which, like their predecessors,
anticipate the day
when they, too, may attain graduation
and then look back over labors of fun.

January Senior Class Officers

Another phone call for Chris Vizus, president, who was kept plenty busy what with running Senior Control Day, editing The Spear, and putting on a mid-year benefit for grads. What a load!

Here's a honey—Muriel Kumm, senior secretary. No wonder they chose her best off from the field! Looks as if she's just passed an important street test for the Spear reporters; she's been at work and looks it!

Charles Nauman, right hand man breathes the balmy air of mid-winter. He was partly responsible for the favorable climate at the Alpine Class Day banquet, which was the first of its kind for years.

Of course this is the treasurer Muriel Kummel. She's salting away the shekels, and judging from her school days lesson, there's no fooling in this one. No wonder the class received solvent.

And These Head the June Seniors

Steve Johnson, president, sets forth for a bit of practice on the ice, where he made a record. But where hasn't he made a record? Every senior, every Parker "points with pride."

This cutie is the class secretary, Betty Lerchen, who made the mistake of coming to school one day in pigtails! Of course, the photo is not real; here are the pig tails and oh those dimples!

Virginia Wilkemeyer, vice-president, does her stint on hall duty. Nobody even tries to avoid this popular lass—whether she's on duty or off! And have you noted those eyes? Those eyes, eyes!

Who will ever forget Joe Stulberg, treasurer, who made himself famous over the P. A. system with his Carnival joes? Joe looks like he's going strong right now; must be the one about

Mid-year Juniors Selected These

Now here's ~~good~~ sport for you! It's Ed Kalishewsky, president who's into everything and has a smile for everyone. Remember how he headed up that ~~bad~~ ~~no~~ "The Black Flamingo."

Don Ordern, secretary, is hard at it. He keeps those minutes in A-1 condition; so if you want to know anything about the class's history, page Don. The juniors knew what they were about!

There's nothing like having a handsome vice-president for first assistant. Ruth Allen fills both bills more than satisfactorily and has her finger in no fewer other pies, including the Federated Organizations.

Agnes Marderosian, treasurer, is another "mike" addict! She's probably announcing a bake sale at this moment or a Girls' Club meeting—or a Washington project. Whoo-hoo, it keeps her out in front!

While June Juniors Elected These

Marie Sheen, president, is doing her stuff with ~~the~~ ~~real~~. Looks like she means business—but then she's lauded for handling successful projects in a businesslike manner. Remember the crippled children—~~etc.~~

Robert Laver, energetic secretary sold Spectators, too. He's making a sale at this point; but that won't be recorded in the minutes. He's also handy with the camera, in case you didn't know.

It looks doubtful. Dwight, have you thought it over? Vice-President Conlan is pondering some class project; those juniors had several new tricks up their sleeves this year—among them the roller skating party.

Another Bob. This time it's treasurer Alpern who can turn on steam at a moment's notice and finish up a job as well as he began it. He busily managed this book as well.

Mid-winter Soph Class Leaders

Now this is the way Jack Laubach, president, keeps his class pepped up! Query: Has the job worn him out thus soon? No, Jack has the world by the tail, with plenty of time for snoozes.

Doris Hutchinson, secretary, is caught looking pensive or philosophical or sumpin' as she waits at the main portals. Her literary inspirations ought to find a slight let-up this winter, job

And pretty Betty McConnell, vice president, takes time from her arduous duties to remove that shme. Not that she needs to—if you're asking all the admirers forming in line at the right!

Keith's waking up the natives; bet they heard him all the way to Woodward! It's just Mr. Otterbein friends, who's the class treasurer when he isn't busy being popular with one and all.

'Tops' in June Sophs' Election

Ah, the maestro! It's that happy-go-lucky Bill Ellmann who walked away with the presidential votes some time back and who's continued to walk away with hearts n' such ever since!

Carried on the tradition of such Betty Kruger, secretary, surveys the campus. These look like long-ago thoughts. By the way, Betty was pretty pert with red accessories when ye photo ed happened along.

Bill finds himself a spot where he can finish that lesson before the bell rings. This young member of the Grekin family is the vice-president of this newest class, if you please.

Whistling boy Robert Fife counts the shekels for the sophs. He seems to take life easy; but just wait till the money begins to roll in and then see him hustle!

As this class stands the high school, a new class comes to the stage of the stage to have its talents measured and evaluated. Drawn by the teacher, it is easy to see that the number of winners in the Freshman class of '37 totaled ten.

Washington Trip--Beginning to End

There's never a feeling quite the like—
Be it baseball, swimming, or riding a bike
That comes to the lads and lassies when they
Board the train on the joyful day
And wave good-bye to one and all
To answer the "On to Washington" call.
For this trip, many hours of work they've done
But through it all, they've really had fun.
Now the time has come and the hopes they knew
They realize at last have come true.
But they've gained much more than it would appear
For a great deal has happened in just one year.
Better friends they now have and experienced are they
In working for money and giving up play.

Even poetry can't express the joy each person feels on the last day he steps into the Senior Shop to carry out his load of products to sell to another or some helpful neighbor. Although the load of goods is almost breaking and people fret about it at the time the travel matter is forgotten when the hours begin to mount and bring them nearer and nearer the goal.

Their busy time has just begun for other events besides the goods sold from the Senior Shop go to make the grand total, which amounted to about $6000.00 for the 1936 class. The Carnival brought the greatest profit, getting them approximately $1,144.14 this year with dances, bridges, and the like also added to the sum.

Finally the time for departing arrives and students break all traffic rules to get to the station on time for a scheduled train waits for no man. Then amid the shouting of the excited crowd, they board the train and speed on their way to one of the most picturesque spots in America.

The time allowed three days is hardly long enough in which to see all the sights that the fair city of Washington has to offer but they manage to go through the most interesting places. Some of them are the Cathedral of Saints Peter and Paul which is now being constructed and will someday rank among the great cathedrals of the world. Mount Vernon made of wood built to resemble stone. Christ Church at Alexandria, where George Washington and Robert E. Lee worshipped, and the White House in front of which a group picture was taken. These were only a few of the places on the visiting schedule.

Three days slip by very fast and it's time to return to Detroit and old H. P. Back to the routine of studies but even then their thoughts wander to the scenes which are so vivid in their mind, each hoping that some day he may return.

Juniors Successful in Skating Party

Nothing ventured, nothing gained, or so the saying goes. So the junior class decided to venture, and although it gained only $26.65, it paid its Polar Bear obligation and introduced an entirely new class project, namely a roller skating party.

By some first-class salesmanship, juniors convinced the managers of the Arena Gardens that they could furnish them with a goodly crowd if they (the junior class) would receive a bounty on each ticket they sold. This was done. In spite of the snow and cold, the people were lined up waiting to get in and some even trudged along to find a less densely populated skating rink. But packed or not, the crowd still found room enough to enjoy themselves. President Marie Sheen and Robert Alpern, treasurer, pondered away many hours making this successful.

The major activity of the class, however, was the publication of yours truly, the POLAR BEAR, which caused many sleepless nights and much writers' cramp.

It was too much for Editor-in-Chief Wesley Swift to stand, when copy came in on time. He may be able to remember one dead-line meeter, that is, if there was such a person. Copy just doesn't seem to get in on time, but eventually it rolls in, and the yearbook is finally published.

Another annual project of the junior class is the Junior-Senior Prom, which was held this year on June 4.

With their work as juniors completed, they started work on the senior Washington Trip, appointing as their first chairmen, Mary Doane and Robert Layer, candy; Fred Price, paper; and Howard Robinson, dances.

As chaperons the class of '38 has chosen: Miss Celia Bywater, mathematics; Miss Evelyn Jones, history; Miss Helen Streator and Herbert Harrison, English; Morell Baker, science, and Carl Dorsey, manual arts.

Sophomores Reach New Height

Time marches on, and with time goes the sophomore class, which under the guidance of Bill Ellmann took steps forward to make this group amount to something and command respect from the upper classmen.

In years past they have looked high and low for some project in which their members could indulge, thus using some of their excess energy. Each time they thought they had something, a flaw was found and the idea was discarded.

This year President Bill Ellmann and his helpers were determined to unearth an acceptable project; so after weeks of arguing for and against, it was agreed that the sophomores might enter the All-School Comedy. They submitted a skit entitled "Boys' Dormitory," a comedy in verse written by Bob Grekin. It passed the preliminaries and entered the finals to chalk up a point for the youngest group in Senior High.

With this feather in their cap, they looked for more "green pastures" and ended up with a dance which brought them a profit of $13. The committee for this was headed by Betty Kruger, secretary.

With these projects to their credit, sophomores have put their class on a new pedestal.

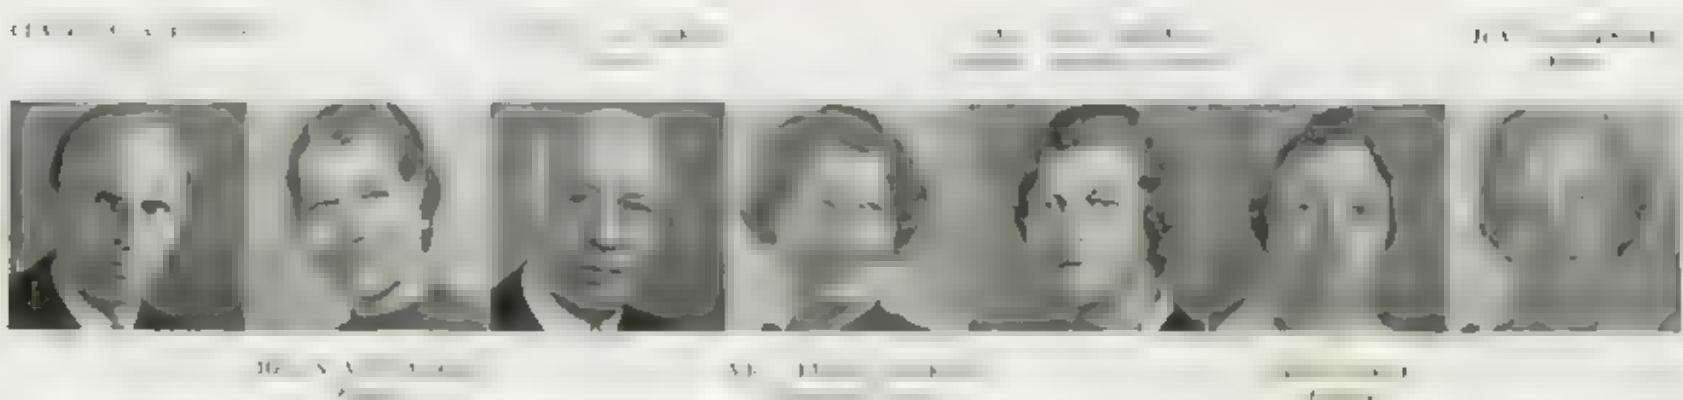

Fire eatin' dragons,
ruthless butchers
tearing apart the work we slaved so long to get, heartless
'critters' that under-
rate all our efforts;
they're the faculty

after all teachers are and the students of the class of 1960. This year, the teacher and the students of the class of 1960 are taking over what the new students of the class of 1961 are leaving. Mr. Seeger left the class on March 25, 1960, to go to Michigan.

He is still in Michigan, now working with the students of the Ray M. Hayes.

Russell Cappel, art teacher, and other students have been working on the construction of pottery making. They have shown with some of their masterpiece before the school this year.

Miss Alice Miller, art teacher, and student assistant. How does your teacher go?

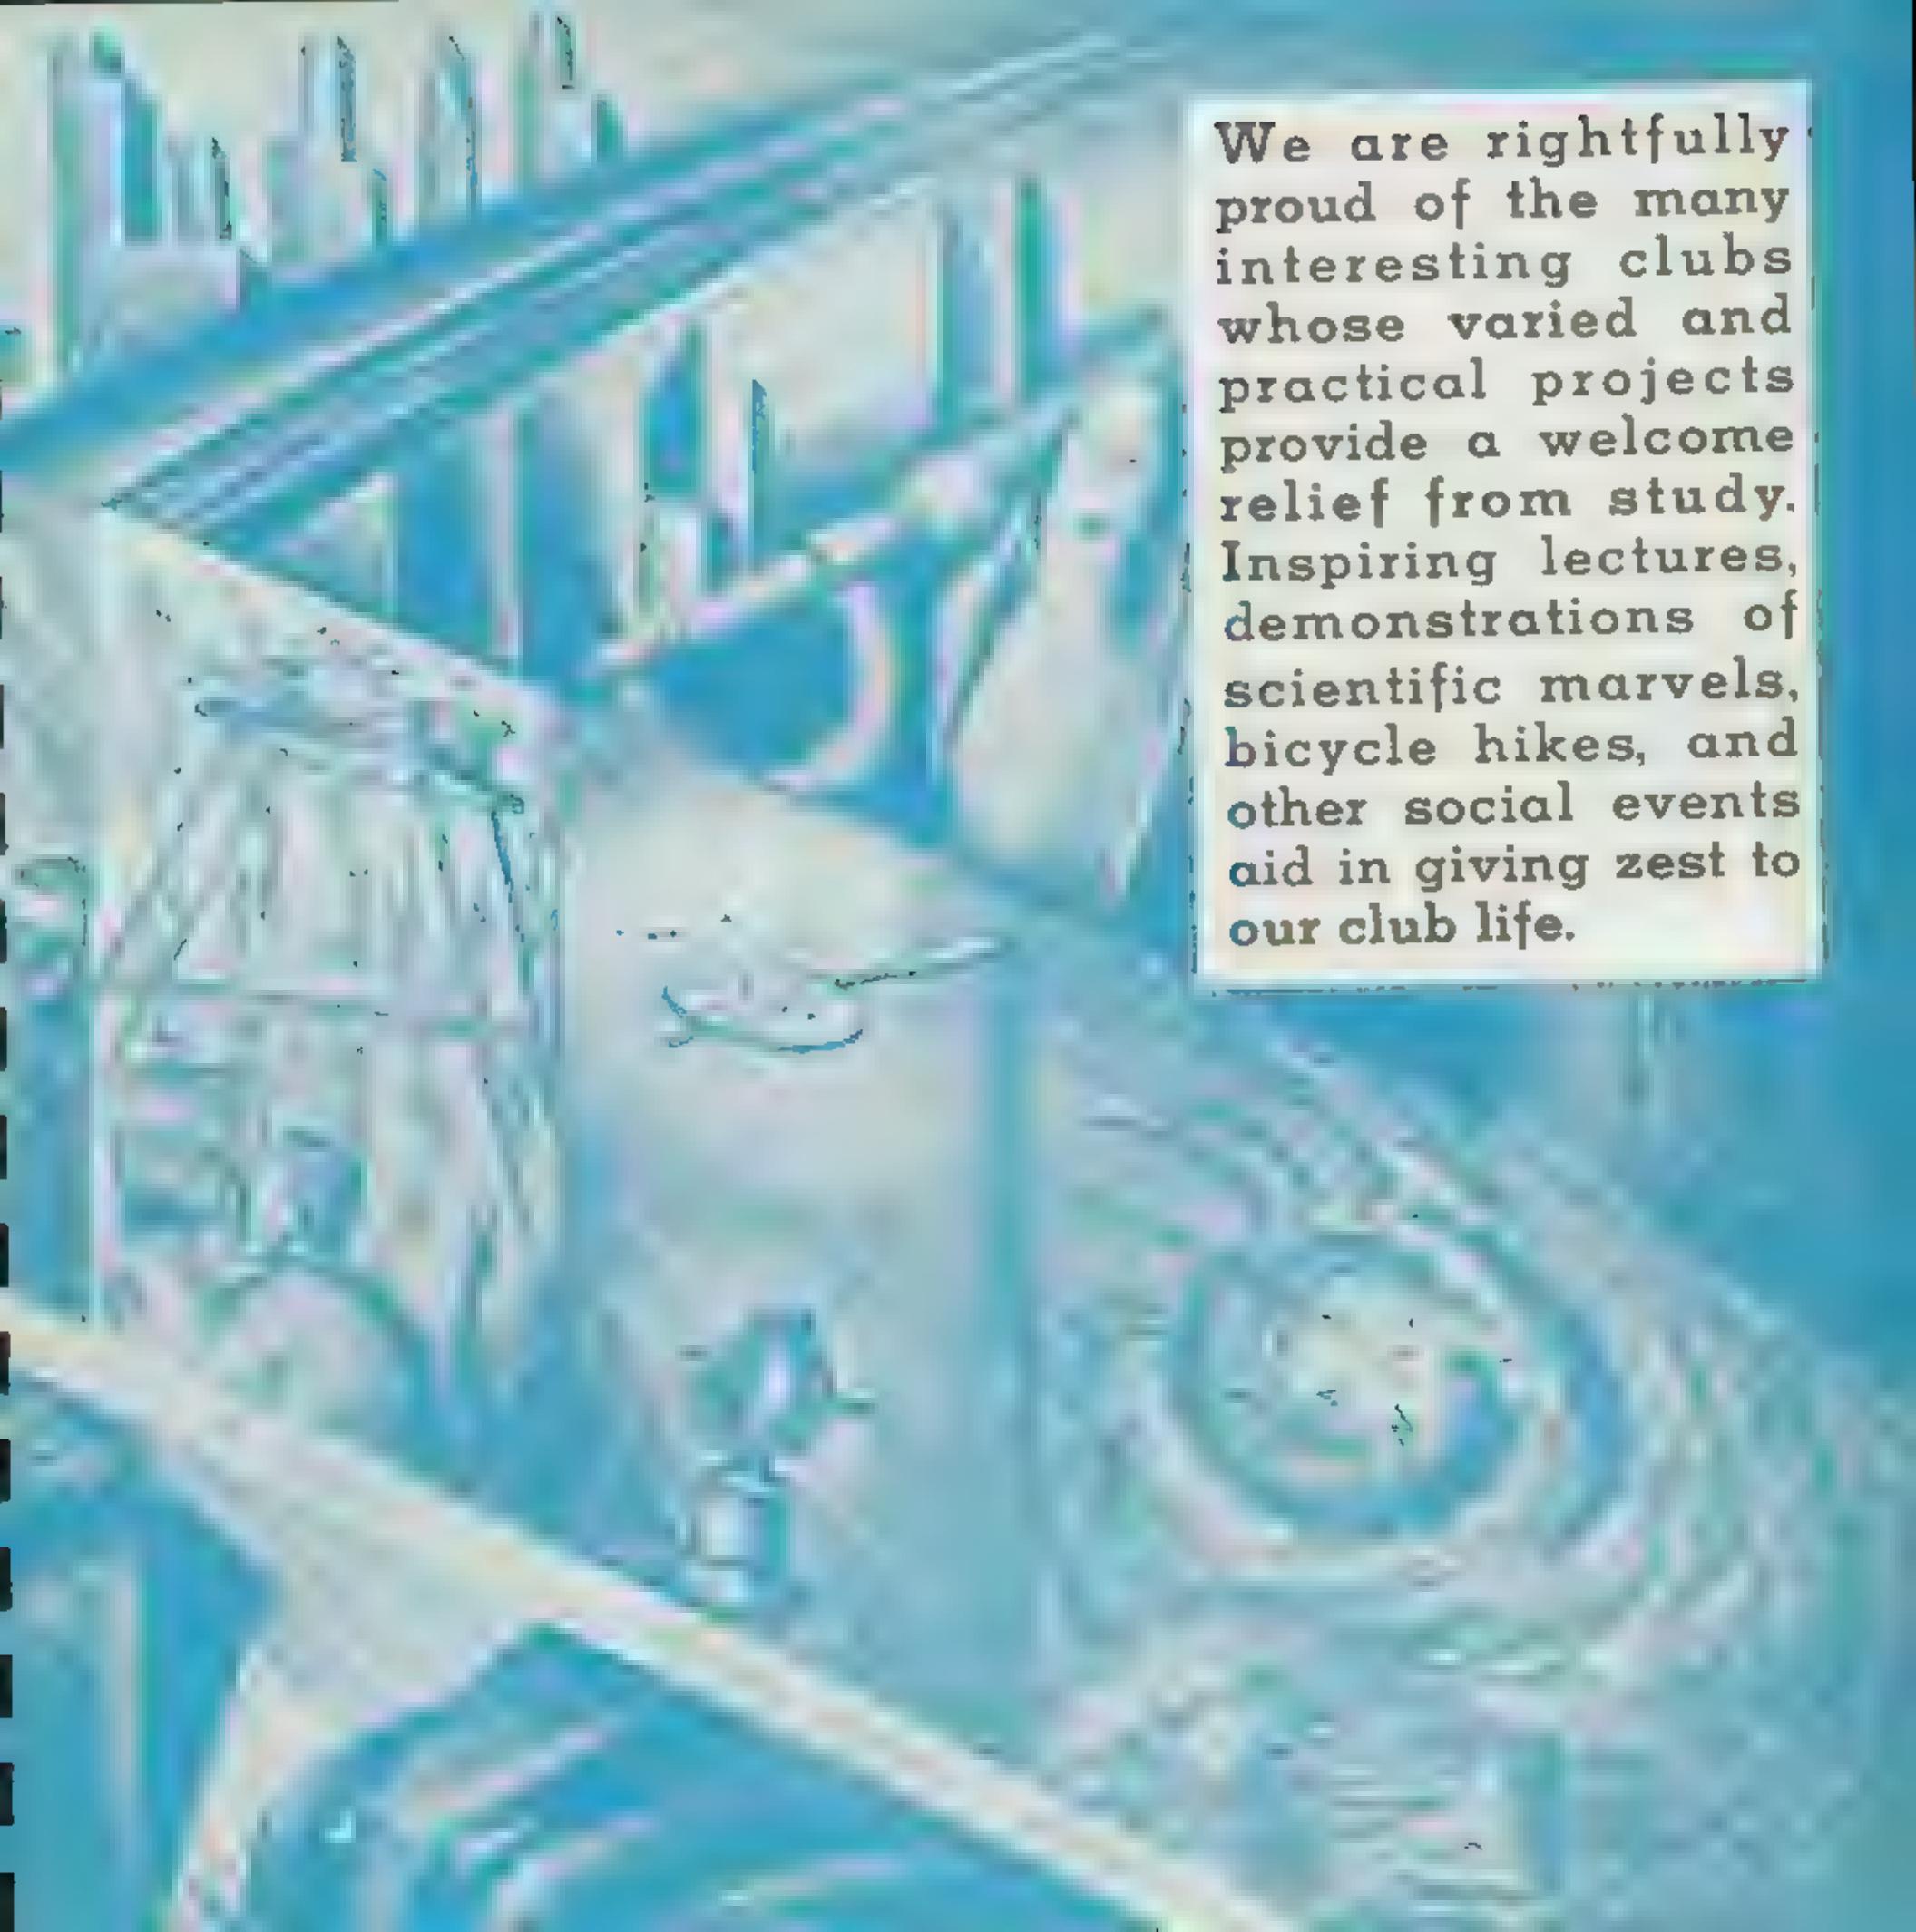

Not only does she teach art, but she is also teaching classes with a Spanish speaking teacher.

Mrs. Jany has been teaching Mrs. B. DeMille just a few days with a her class in the class. Mrs. DeMille is the English teacher.

Mrs. Morris, former school teacher, has a pet, a small rabbit. This little boy has a good story to tell. He is not from Washington. Every little one of us is very interested.

Mr. DeMille, the nutrition room, where students who are different do their own food each day. He knows us very well. He also does a good job of preparing the class for daily rap.

We are rightfully proud of the many interesting clubs whose varied and practical projects provide a welcome relief from study. Inspiring lectures, demonstrations of scientific marvels, bicycle hikes, and other social events aid in giving zest to our club life.

Club Activities

1600 Club: Last year's members of the club are the tennis swing club members and others.

Billiards: The second year HHS has seen.

Business Committee: A group of business people.

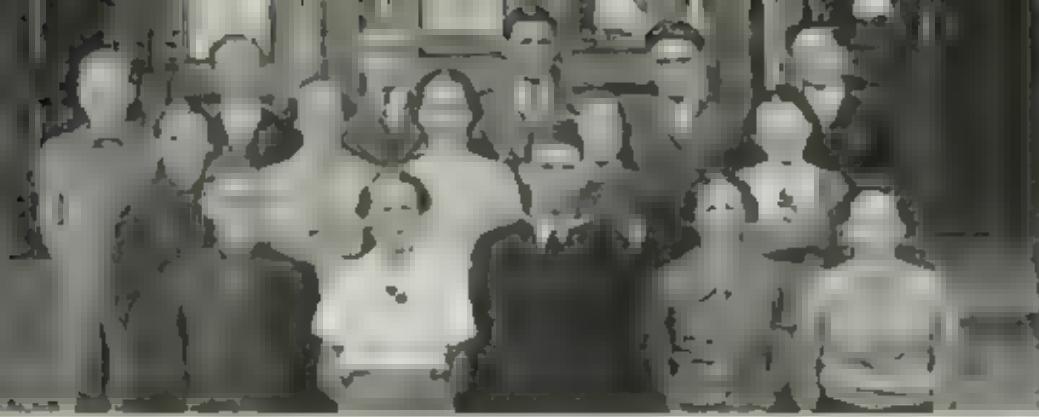

No one seems to care much about the Billiards and making the money from the business group.

At the same time, Bill Hess displays his meets of taking his place in the class committee with the class.

Business Review: The other class of the class committee.

Major Zink: The committee with the class teacher for courses.

Federation

Democracy triumphed again as the adoption of a new constitution extended the powers of the Federated Organizations and enlarged the body.

The Federation presented a bigger and better get together day for the sophomores, sponsored the All-School Comedy, handled sale of Tuberculosis and Crippled Children seals, and sponsored annual Club Day.

These, however, are just on the side. They also served later dance hours, donated money for flood relief, and instituted a new hall duty system.

Cinema Club

Cinema Club is one of the organizations around school that gets many things done in a quiet way, their aim being to be of greater use to their community and school each year.

Each week they discuss movies and present those which they think are best in a column in The Spectator, emphasizing the social values of the picture.

This is only routine work, however, and as extra activities they study technicolor and television.

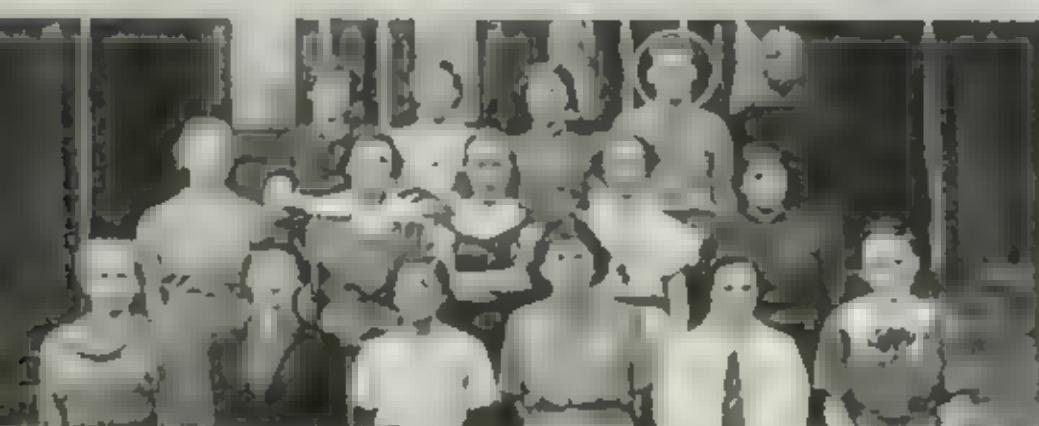

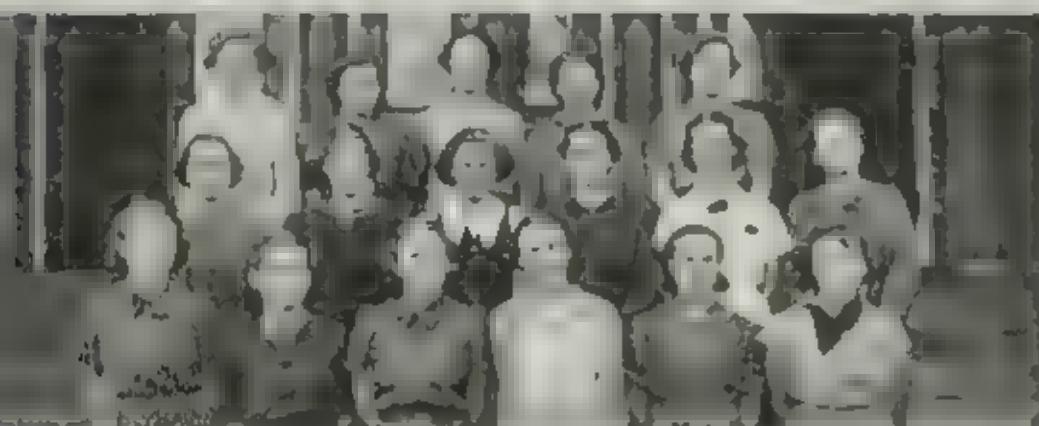

Bookworms

The Bookworms are the guilty persons who walked off with the second prize plaque at the All-School Comedy of 1937 by presenting "The Case of the Missing Cuff Link."

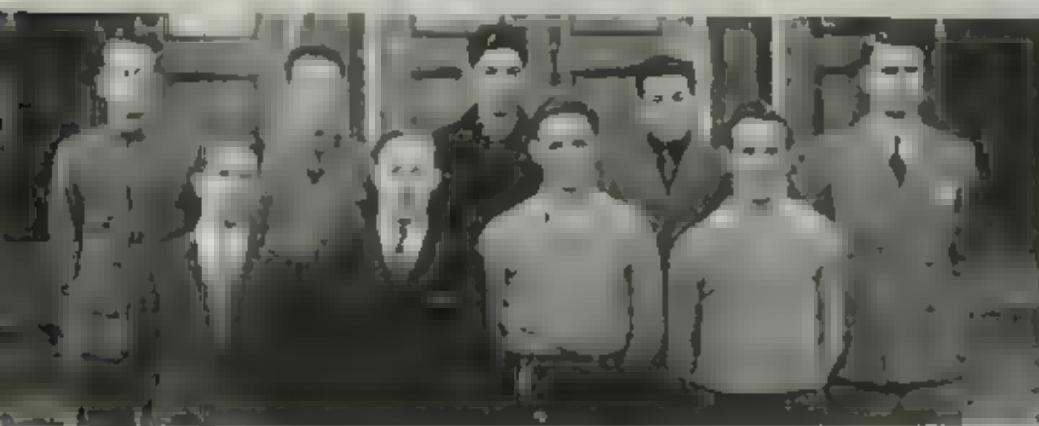

At the Carnival they donned the robes of the Orient and served Chow Mein to the hungry public. Outside of these things they weren't very busy unless you take into consideration the scavenger hunt, fall party, and other such frolics, or the book marks bearing a list of recommended books which were given out in the library.

Radio Club

Members of the Radio Club, which was organized in 1929, have as their aim the becoming of amateur radio operators and the making of a study of international code work. Several members have realized this ambition and 9 of the 23 in the club are licensed operators. They have great fun buzzing over the ether waves and seem anxious to enroll new members.

Rolling Stones

Rolling Stones is primarily a travel club ~~when you view the fact that~~ it walked away with the cup for first place in the All-School Comedy by presenting "Miss Squallin's Nursery School," earned more money than any other club at the Carnival, and accomplished other such achievements, then this thought begins to ~~seep~~ into your gray matter: How do they find time for anything else?

They have not dropped any hints as to how they do it, but in the spring they travel about D.C. and New York and during the winter, Europe.

Biology Club

With an enrollment of 80 the Biology Club has the largest membership of any club in school, which is to say that it is the most popular club in the school.

They journey to various spots of interest throughout and around the city, such as Greenfield Village and the Flower Show, and between trips sponsor picnics, bicycle rides, swimming and skating parties, and dances just to keep out of mischief.

H.P.S.

Rosedale Park High School Senior Society Society of Young H.P.S., founded 1919

It was organized in 1919 as a purely social group and has survived 18 long years to become the school's oldest club.

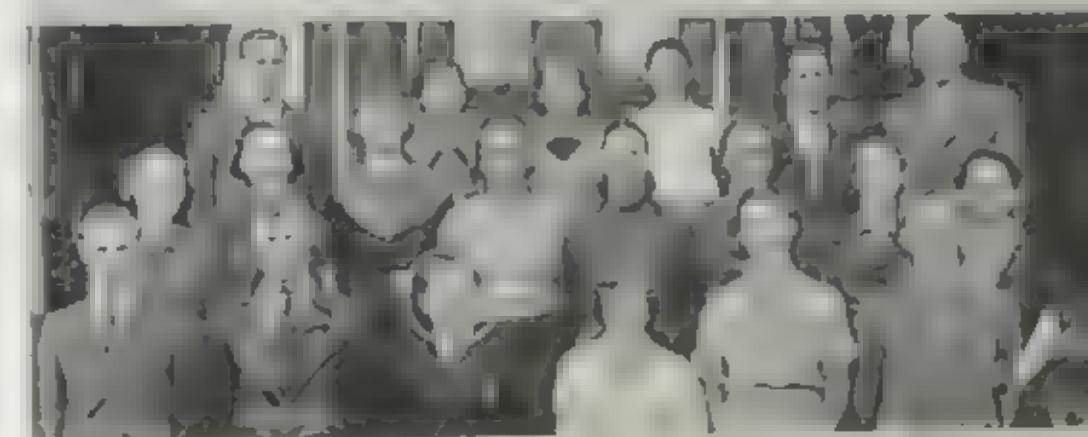

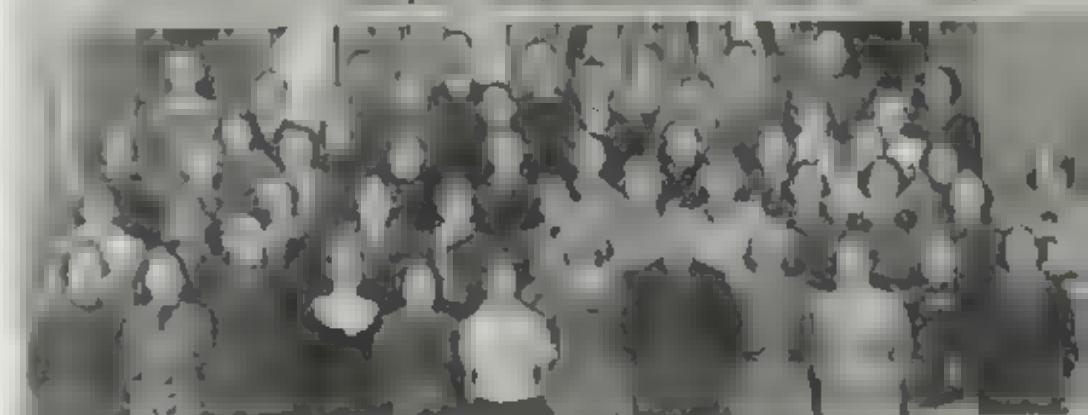

Its membership consists only of those science students who show a profound interest in the "hows and whys" of chemistry and modern science.

In its meetings more emphasis is placed on gaining knowledge than on entertainment.

Camera Club

A better understanding of photography, cameras and the development of the art of the Camera Club. Members who are semi-professional photographers and those who are interested for better cameras, lenses and new ideas.

To become a member, it is not at all necessary to know anything about cameras or even to know how to use them, but merely to have an interest in photography.

Girls' Club

Practically all the activities of the Girls' Club or Girl Reserves are of a charitable nature, the proceeds going everywhere except back to the club. Early in the term a tea for newcomers to the school was held; sewing was done for the Neighborhood Guild, and dolls dressed for the Red Cross.

In the fall they were affiliated with the Hi-Y in presenting "Harvest Dance," the profits of which filled Thanksgiving Baskets for the poor.

Hi-Y

Hi-Y is a boys' club which was organized to be at the disposal of the school in a worthwhile project. Its treasury is maintained by charity. Their dances are something of note and the expert delivery of their Christmas baskets is worthy of notice.

Like other groups though, they don't confine themselves to work but enjoy the frivolities participated in by all clubs.

French Club Le Cercle Français caught the writing bug from somewhere and has a grand time scrambling and scribbling for the language paper L'Aiglon.

Members sponsored Primo, Garde à la Peinture and La Maternelle, French fairs to enable students to polish up on their accents.

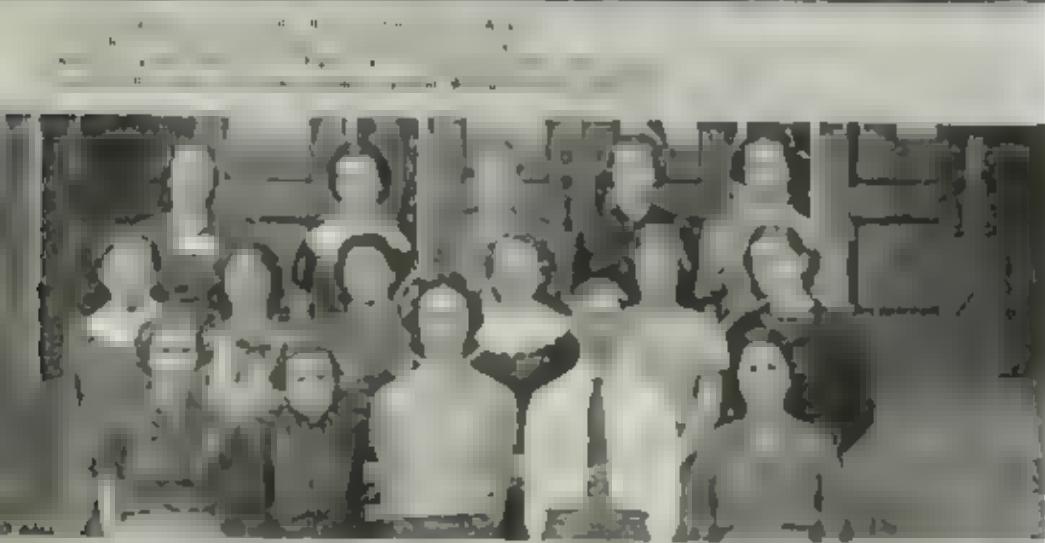

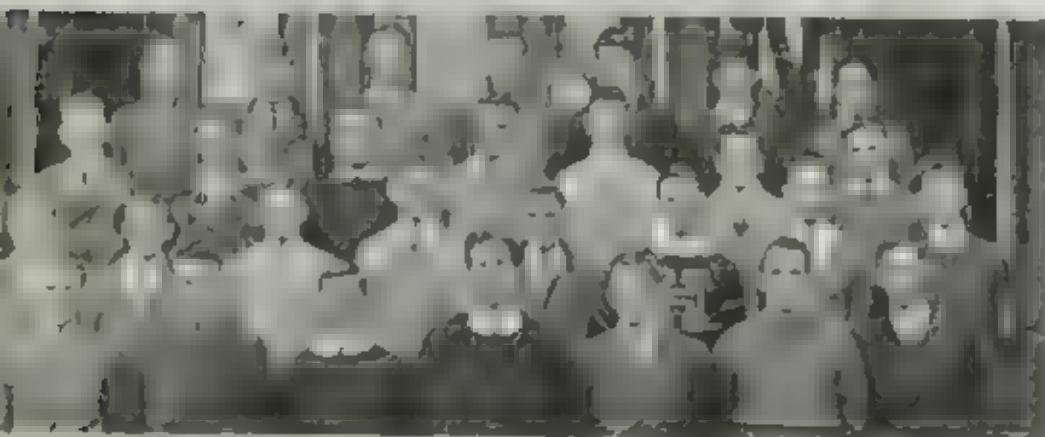

Paul Burroughs, their genuine Frenchie member, spoke on his impressions of America and France whose language the club adopts at its meetings.

Spanish Club

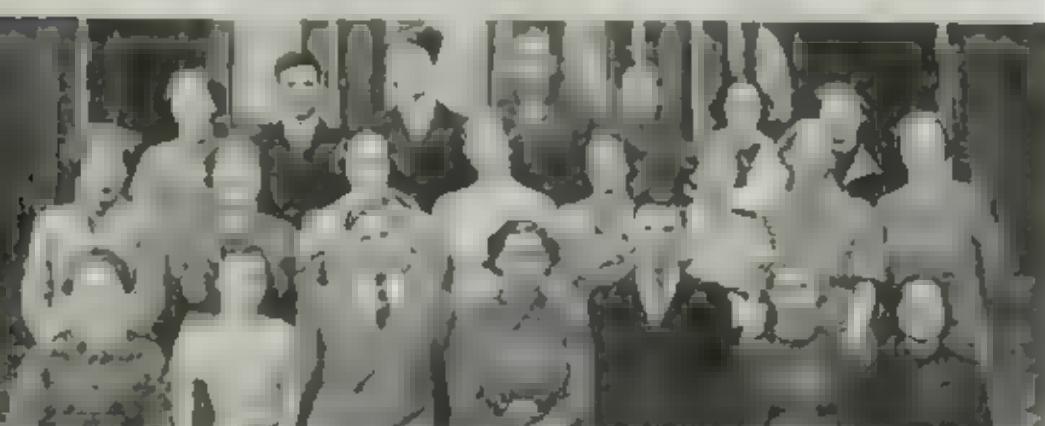

Eating and listening to speakers on travel lore seem to be the favorite sports of El Círculo don Quijote.

All meetings are pot-luck suppers in the homes of the members, which give grand opportunities for brushing up on one's Spanish. The club has traveled wide in mind if not in body, having seen South America, Mexico, Paris, Monte Carlo, Italy, New York, and California through the eyes of their friends.

This is a mere trickle under the bridge, however, for their Carnival pasie cart, holiday parties, hot dog races and participation in L'Aiglon haven't even been touched upon.

History Club This group sprang into being to enable any persons interested to make a study of the historical spots in the United States, particularly in Michigan, which one might get a chance to visit in a fit of wanderlust.

To add spice to their program of study, Miss Richards spoke on Alaska and Mr. Altenburg described his "trucks" of South America. Just for examples of their work, they visited the Detroit Creamery had a potluck supper and initiation, and took charge of the booth at the Carnival.

Quill and Scroll

Besides doing superior work in some branch of journalism, it is necessary in order to become a member of Quill and Scroll to be in the upper third of your class scholarship, to be recommended by Miss Doris Glines, faculty adviser of The Spectator and have samples of your writing accepted by the international secretary-treasurer of Quill and Scroll.

Scoring all creative writing contests held in school and celebrating the club's 10th anniversary were the only activities this year as the members pressed by numerous interests bound to be strictly honorary.

Debating

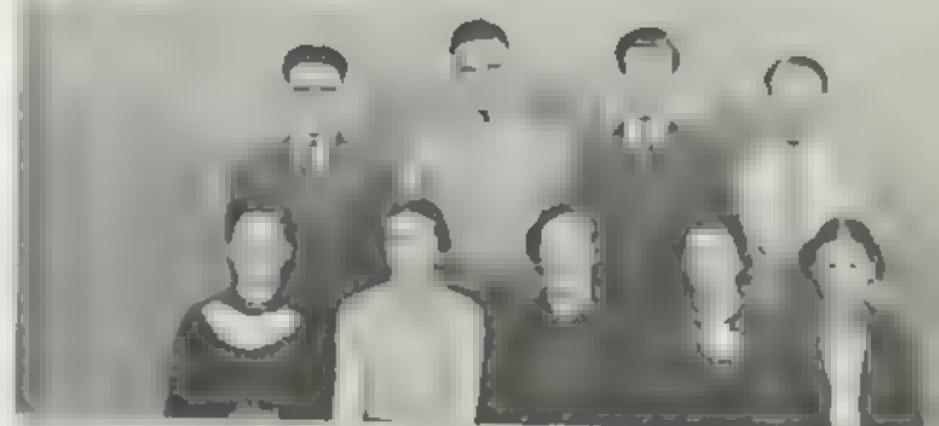

Those hard-voiced lads in losses who go the distance of this school failed in winning four league and four practice tilts on the proposition, "Resolved: That Electrical Utilities Should be Governmentally Owned."

Bruce R. Siders, faculty adviser, attributes this bad luck to the fact that all members were given a chance to show their colors instead of there being a definite team.

Bowling

The Bowling Club is the most optimistic masculine group in school, particularly in sports. They bowl regularly every Thursday and will swing it with any group that desires a little competition. The five swingsters who have the highest averages comprise a team whose victories are scattered and few, the surest bet for success being the annual roll with the girls' squad.

The optimist enters with the fact that they keep right on bowling, prophesying a win for the next time.

"What's the theme of the '37 BEAR going to be?"

That was the great question on the staff's collective mind until some Joe Journalist up and said, "Let's use science as the theme! That's why everything from the make up to the size of the book has been executed in a scientific manner (we hope).

As any project developed in an orderly, scientific way needs a leader, Miss Doris Glines, publications adviser, chose Wesley Swift as editor-in-chief. Then there are those who did the work. Besides the section editors, there were Robert Alpern, business manager; Evelyn Altman, advertising manager; Nick Mastroianni, circulation manager; and Paul Richmond, photographic editor.

Finishing off the book in an artistic way were Emery Dalmage, David Landis, Joyce Peterson, and the commercial art class, directed by Miss Edna Brown.

When the editors settled down to missing their deadlines last fall, the circulation staff started to work to make you "Sink Your Shekels in a POLAR BEAR!" This last was accomplished by two drives and various inducements.

JUST five days too late to vote in the fall election, The Spectator came of age last November 8. In honor of this event a dinner-dance which many former editors and advisers attended was held November 6, with Floyd Snyder's orchestra providing the swing music and things and stuff. Dings and stuff included Rosemary Calvin, blues singer and former radio star.

When The Spectator's writers and editors trafiled forlornly back to school last September, they suddenly found themselves sitting on air because the old sheet had pulled through to grab the Quill and Scroll International Honor Rating for the first time. Heading up the cast of those who tried to uphold the honor are the following: Chris Vizas and Tom Coleman, alternate leads; Marian Shrver, co-starred. One of the featured players early in the season was Phyllis Merrill, supported by her monitor staff, who put The Spectator out ahead with a drive which was marked by the incorporation of the paper. And the ad staff, headed by June Abendroth, kept the corporate youngster liquid

HAVING been chosen from the more talented of the band and orchestra, the several solo music groups have been used as models for the various jobs and duties.

Swingcoperators

()M, Two, Three, Let's Go!

"Cast Loma Stomp," "Sugar Blues," and other numbers of the swing variety were started with these words at the local dances. Let's get you. Who ever was ready to go? Why the Swingcoperators, of course!

These lads, dressed in their swing clothes, swayed themselves to Washington. They earned most of their hours playing for senior frolics. The membership of the orchestra changed frequently as some dropped out when they had acquired all their hours and were replaced by others.

Band and Orchestra

FOR THE first time in its history, the band honored a school motto, "Duty and Honor," when the local Old Newsboys Organization gave Wm. Griffith, band leader, a small American flag in appreciation of the band's efforts for the Goodfellow cause.

This was one of the highlights in a busy year of service, which included playing at football and basketball games and in various community parades. Besides three concerts given during the year, many solo performances took place in school classes and at the first solo and duet competition of 30 other high schools in a solo ensemble festival held in February.

Improved both as to numbers and quality, the orchestra played at a solo competition and in the spring concert.

Christmas Pageant

BEFORE an enthusiastic group of M.E.A. delegates who jammed the Crystal Ballroom of Masonic Temple last tide, the Visitation choir offered its outstanding performances of the year. Included on the program were both religious and secular pieces, typical of the high class of music the Choir sings.

Rounded out by the annual Christmas Pageant, several holiday programs were presented in the local churches. These recitals were only a few of the many that were given before various civic and religious groups under the direction of Roy M. Parsons, music head, and accompanied by Mrs. Madeline Stubbs, piano teacher.

Eleven Shows Courage

With only three veterans, Sam David, Martin Abo and Bill Menzies returning to the squad, Highland Park's green & even completed the football season with fair success. Poor blocking and tackling were the main causes for the team's mediocre performance but at times it displayed a strong offense.

In the initial game, the annual non-league U. of D. night classic, the Parkers ran up against a well polished team. The powerful U. of D. machine warmed up for its drive to the city title by easily downing the Bears 36 to 6, to take the coveted Silver Derby for the first time in five years. The highlight of the game was a sensational 80 yard dash to a touch down by Sam David in the fourth period. The crowd

A fist-hitting Southeastern team drove through a spirited Bear eleven 19 to 0 on the wet turf of Ford Field to take the first league game. But in the next two games the team reversed its form by defeating Pershing 12 to 6 on scores by Amidon and Kalishewsky and by blanking Northern in a wide open game.

12 to 0, in which David again made a thrilling run of 90 yards.

When their offense failed in the pinch, the Bears lost an opportunity to keep Denby from the Eastern division title. The score favored Denby 14 to 0. Despite a drizzling rain and a soggy field, Bob Silverston converted the only point after touchdown made by the varsity all season to give the Parkers a 7 to 7 tie with Miller.

The Blue and White dropped below the .500 average in league games by losing the season's final to No. 11 eastern 25 to 6. Silverston scored the lone point on a pass from Amidon.

THE PARKERS
BASEBALL TEAM

Six Vets Return

With only three new players on the Parkers' squad, the spring practice Coach Searcey had to call on the experience of the veterans with whom he attempted to repeat the success of last year's squad.

The only three positions open to newcomers were third base and two outfield posts. Unless injuries or other unexpected reasons dictated, the team was expected to line up with Zeiger, Flanagan, and Gale as battery, Crocker at first, Amidon and Markland at short and second, and Silverston in the field. This left only three positions vacant, and the return of these veterans strengthened the Parkers' hopes for the season. They will have had to play inspired baseball, however, to equal the precedent set by last year's nine. This team went through the regular season with flying colors and then lost a finely played game to Southwestern in the city final.

Tom Cole pitched the Bears to a victory over Pershing, 4 to 1, and 7 to 7 in a game marked by frequent errors. Cole lost a game to Eastern 4 to 1 on his next appearance, but the defeat was largely due to poor hitting on the part of the Parkers. The Blue and White then beat Miller 3 to 1 in a well-pitched game by Cole and Southwestern 3 to 3 behind the steady hurling of Cole. The team, however, lost to Compton 3 to 4 and No. 100 3 to 1. These losses put the team in second place on the East Side league; but that position got them into the playoffs.

After winning the first elimination game, the Bears proceeded to the finals with Southwestern who had the leads scoreless. The success of the Southwestern team was due to Gibson Williams, who held the Parkers to one lone hit in seven innings. The two runs he managed to get on base were easily erased by two fine throws by catcher Jenkins, and the Parkers never seriously threatened the plate. The final score was 3 to 0.

Basketeers Display Power; Markland Makes All-City

Captained by Al Coulter the Varsity court squad presented the strongest team that the alum water has had in recent years. Coach Dyer was able to send a full team of veterans on the floor during the entire season and they became the threat of their division. Consistent scoring by Al Sankar and Gene Markland, forwards, was an important factor in the Parkers' success. Gene chosen as all-city forward compiled a season total of 79 points to lead the eastern division in scoring totals and Sankar was not far behind.

Because it formed the habit of coasting when in the lead, the varsity threw away an opportunity to be one divisional champs. Miller finally sent the Blue and White 24 to 19 after the Lions had set most of the way. Northern also defeated the Parkers 25 to 23 Northern lost 11-10 at the end of the last quarter and then scored the winning points with seconds to play.

Following their heartbreak of defeat, the team hit its stride and downed Northeastern 25 to 13 and then tied an unbeaten Hamtramck team 26 to 26. The Cosmos had to score six points in the last two minutes to gain this tie; the last points were scored on a lucky shot from mid court. Continuing their fine play, the Bears swamped Derby 41 to 17, Pershing 15 to 17, and then tied Saginaw 41 to 41 and the 1926-27 season.

Tobin Paces Puck Team, Becomes All-City Captain

In what is rumored to be the last season for high school hockey the Parker pick squad was able to win but two out of seven games. Captains Ken and John Parker had a lead at seven before the letter men on the Olymian team the season opened for John who was also chosen captain of the city hockey squad was the mainstay of the team attack. The weak of Bedford's make up of tradesmen Hodgecock was mainly responsible for the Parkers first defeat as he failed to defend the shots that came his way. His superior play resulted in a victory for the Meteor and Gey of Bedford with a score of 3-1-0. A disputed goal that one of the last minute of play resulted in a 1-1 tie game with Central. This goal seemed by the Bears to have hit the post and bounded — the second a square divided into four smaller squares.

He was awarded a penalty goal when George Hessey, Cooley center, threw his stick at Jim when he had a wide shot in front of him. This goal would have given the Pekins a 1 to 1 tie with Cooley; but when the two books were counted after the game it was discovered that a goal could not be granted for that offense so the Bears officially lost the game 1 to 0.

The Bees lost another encounter to Denby 2 to 1 before winning their first game from Chadsey 3 to 1. They lost at home 1 to 0 to D. 1 to 0, but lost the return 2 to 1 to Mackenzie 2 to 1.

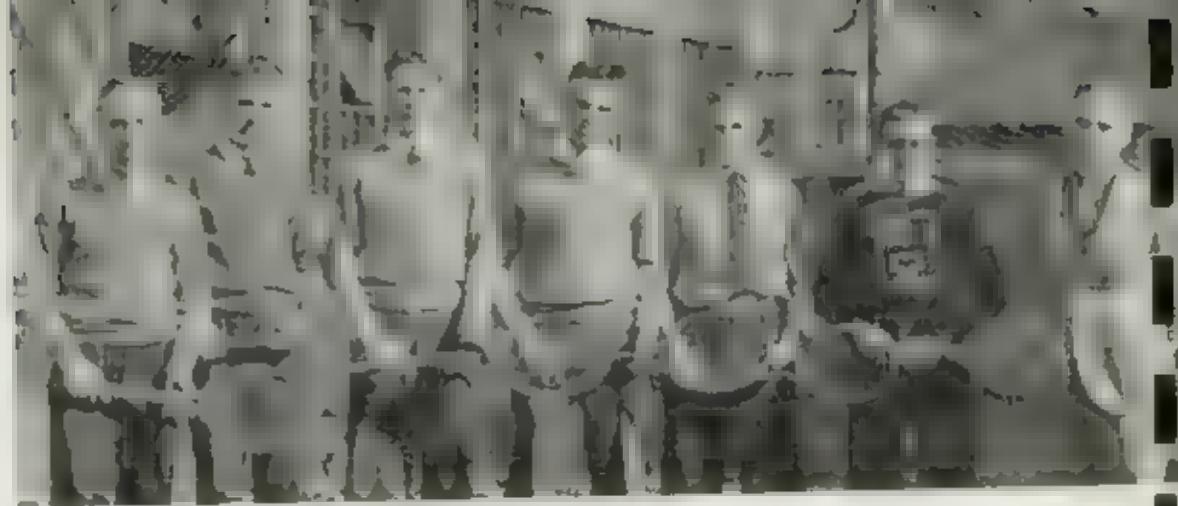

Tobin Retains Title

Paced by Jim Tobin and Eugene Markland, the Parker tennis squad answered Coach Bill Miller's call for spring practice. The netmen looked forward to another successful season as they eagerly awaited the city matches.

In last season's final, Jim Tobin retained his singles net crown by defeating Irving Bloombold of Central in two sets 8-6, 6-3. Tobin had more trouble than the score indicates, however, as he lost the first three games. In these three games, Tobin was able to capture only one point in each. He then started to even the count but lost two more in succession and held the small end of a 5 to 4 score. Bloombold stood at set point seven times, but Tobin's courage brought the game to decide each of those occasions and on the eighth time the Central player missed an easy smash. Bloombold led again at 6 games to 5 but Tobin's play again improved and he ran out the next three games for the set. The second set was much easier for Jim, whose service was functioning smoothly by this time. He held service five times and broke Bloombold's once for the set and match. Tobin had made only 38 points in the second set.

This fall, the Parker doubles team of Tobin and Markland was not as fortunate as they lost the championship to Schafander and Rosenbaum of Central 4-6, 16-14, 6-4.

Linkmen Place Second

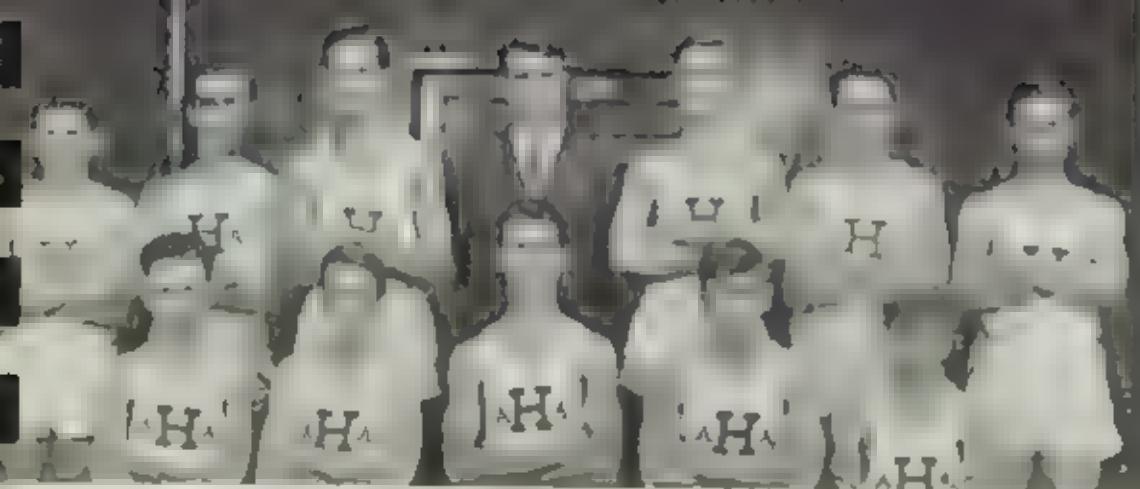

Along with four veterans, Fred Brewer, Richard Ayling, Irving Gosen and Oden Robinson, Coach Miller received several newcomers to his golf squad as fall practice was called. Miller inaugurated a new system of selecting varsity berths—choosing the holders of lowest scores in a three-game team competitive match which he believed would improve the playing of the team. Coach Miller's plan worked almost perfectly, as his team won three out of five matches and placed second in the city finals.

The quartet of veterans opened the season in a match with Central and they breezed along to a 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ victory. Gosen led his team to victory as he turned in the lowest score of 22. Brewer and Robinson were second the leader by only one and two points respectively.

Their next meet was a triangular affair with Denby and Cooley. At the Bears easily conquered both opponents. They swamped Cooley 16-2 to 1-2 and also submerged Denby in a 15 to 3 score. Captain Robinson shot the best game of the afternoon as he golfed to a total of 5. They followed their victories with losses to Southeastern and Redford by scores of 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 5 $\frac{1}{2}$, but placed second in the city meet—the best mark made in three years.

Trackmen Lack Trials

Forty three hopeful track candidates responded to Coach Dyer's opening whistle this spring, but from this group only two had had previous experience. The majority of the group were from the sophomore and junior classes, and from these green prospects Coach Dyer attempted to build up a strong squad.

The squad was severely handicapped because Highland Park does not sponsor a winter and no track team. As a result of this the Parkers are out of line with the other schools in the matter of getting into condition. This handicap probably showed up the Blue and White's early meets, but they should have been in top form for the city meet.

Coach Dyer, head coach of the track, is sure that one of this year's crudities has to do with the lack of success the team might have enjoyed was due to hard, properly-directed work.

The present edition of track is tried to equal the success of last year's team. The team of 1934 was both meets on its schedule, although it, too, was composed almost entirely of rookies. Eddy Baker and Lester Robinson starred in the first meet with Northern by getting 10 and 11 points, respectively. They also won a meet from Northeastern before disbanding their suits.

Runners On Top

Highland Park's cross country team, coached by Russell Chappell, remained undefeated during the past season. After an accident to a school bus sent the team out of the city meet, this year's crop of harriers decisively defeated Cranbrook and Northern.

From the 27 local boys who reported for the trials, Coach Chappell selected a squad of 11. This team suffered its only misfortune of the season when one of the school buses broke down on Glendale and Wilshire Avenues. The bus was unable to reach Park for one of the city meet. The team finally arrived in the Park, but was three minutes late to hear the starting gun.

Cranbrook was the first team to feel the strength of the local squad. The Highland Park lads took five of the first seven places to swamp Cranbrook 16 to 19 on its 2.1 mile course. Ellsworth Jones of Highland Park finished in front of the pack with a time of 13:08, while Stegg, (H.P.), crossed the line a few steps later. Cranbrook placed two runners in third and sixth places, as three Parkers ran fourth, fifth, and seventh.

The locals also walked off with a 37 to 20 score against Northern as Jones again led the field with a time of 12:31. Stegg finished one second behind Jones.

Those who received letters are: Jones, Stegg, Gothrie, Moyle, Messenger, and Wiegand.

Navy Proves Invincible

A courageous band of Highland Park natators upset all pre-season dope as it ploughed through the schedule with but one defeat. With only three of last year's veterans rejoining the team, the outlook for the season was prophesied as "poor." But after two months of stiff practice, Coach Miller had developed a strong, all-around team that would not admit defeat.

In the first meet, the Parkers met their only defeat of the season. Their conqueror was a veteran Southeastern squad which ran up a score of 45 to 30. With this loss behind them, the varsity hit its stride and mastered all opposition. They first turned the tables by tying a highly rated Eastern team that boasted two or three potential city champion swimmers. Ray Wilde turned in the biggest individual upset of the afternoon when he defeated the noted Bob Allard in the 40-yard free-style. The Bears took three first and five second places in this meet which ended 33 to 33.

The H. P. navy then swamped Northeastern 62 to 13, Grosse Pointe 39 to 36, Cass 47 to 11, Hamtramck 46 to 29, and Northern 49 to 26 in quick succession.

In the city finals, however, the Parker relay team scored the only two points recorded by local contestants.

Juniors Win Meet

Juniors outswam their sophomore and senior foes by a decisive margin in the annual intramural swimming meet. The eleventh graders totaled 38 points to 28 for the seniors and 16 registered by the sophs. In their victory, the junior representatives paddled to five firsts and two seconds, while the best the twelfth grade boys could do was to get three wins and two seconds. The tenth grade points were scored on four second and four third places.

Don Thurston earned first place honors for the visitors in the 100-yard breast stroke event, and Turney and Wilde led at the finish of the 220 and 100-yard free-style races. The 100-yard relay team of Palmer, Gerhold, Wilde, and Adkins also won first place laurels as did the juniors' medley team of Shuler, Thurston and Bjorkquist.

Three seconds separated the sophs from a first place in the medley relay.

Junior Team Sinks Foes

"Chuck" Lappeus' intramural team completed its season with the best record ever established in the history of Highland Park. By out-scoring their opponents 101 to 30, the junior footballers won all of the encounters on their seven game schedule—a feat never before performed.

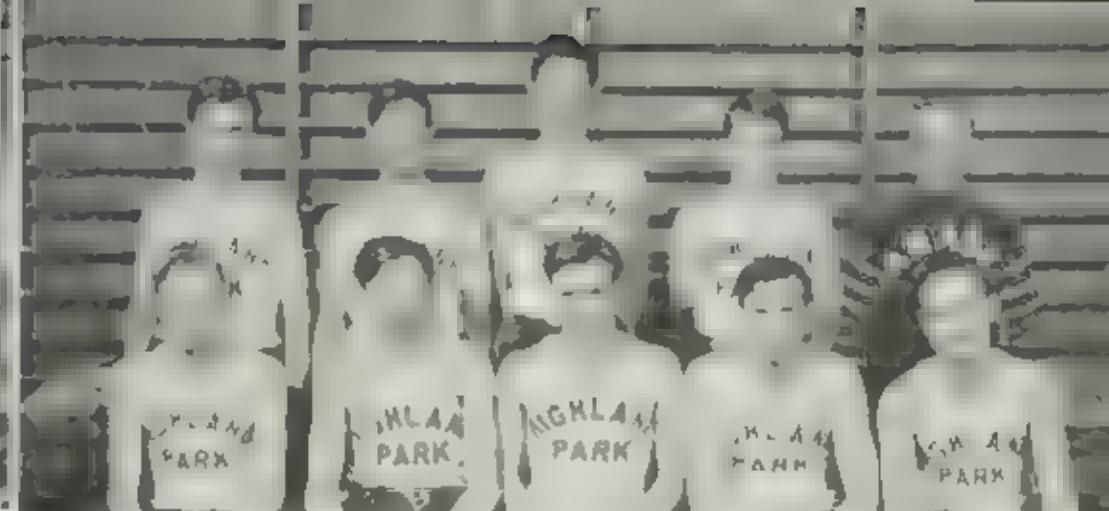

Used by quarterback Rodger Young, the team twice defeated Hainlineck by scores of 6 to 0 and 20 to 6. They blanked Mount Gilead and the Northeastern reserves 2 to 0, and swamped Fordson 25 to 6. The team also defeated River Rouge 12 to 6 and Highland Park reserves 14 to 12.

Jensen Leads Cheering Squad Again

Trained, led, and captained by Eugene Jensen, the '46-'37 edition of the team turned in a brilliant performance as they organized the local rooters who will probably crowd around the athletic contests.

With the completion of the last scheduled flip-flopers directed their attention to the basketball courts, where they did a great job of organizing the shouts of the crowd and insuring the team when stellar play was needed.

Cheerleading has turned out to be one of the most important jobs about school. Everyone realizes the effort behind the varsity squads but they fail to take into consideration the energy, enthusiasm, and

Reserves Set Mark

Coach Dyer's reserve basketeers ended their season above the .500 average by winning six out of 11 contests.

The team started poorly by losing the season's opener to Grosse Pointe 21 to 16, but emerged victorious over Milner 10 to 7. The locals were conquered by Northern 10 to 6, Northstar 12 to 11, and Hamtramck 13 to 10, in succession, and then established a record by blanking Denby 20 to 0. Following this, they lost to Pontiac 11 to 6, and defeated Southeastern 20 to 3 and Eastern 23 to 21. A loss to Commerce 11 to 9, and a victory over Great Lakes 15 to 13, completed the season.

This season's varsity crew, which, according to Coach Nell Raleigh, is one of the best she has ever had, shot its series of five races in comrads with but two losses to Southeastern and Northwestern.

Thursday, Feb. 4, was the opening of the swimming season and varsity swimmers came through in Highland Park style by sinking Northern's Eskimos. Another powerful foe, Co. L., is disposed of in short order in their second tilt. Highland Park's so-far invincible paddling squad next is down at the hands of Northwestern, an old rival. The Blue and White boasts about one Marion Flattery, competitor for state breast stroke championship, were not to win, for Marion captured honors in the meet with Northwestern. She won her honors with a new fly stroke which is a racing breast stroke.

Central proved another feather in the mermaids' respective caps, but South eastern came out on the winning end by two points in that scheduled meet.

According to Mrs. Raleigh, her swimmers are the best team in girls' sports and have been for the past five years. Now with such a degree of distinction, those girls who are high point mermaids have something of which to be proud. Among those in this group are Marjorie Lawson, Rosie Tassel, Marion Flattery, Carol Funk, and Captain Beatrice Hamilton.

Bethany Hamilton, who is captain of the varsity swimmers, saw her team through a good season, with Nell Raleigh's star back stroke. Bethany covered the 20 yards in 13 seconds which goes down as her fastest time. Captain Hamilton, who has swum for Highland Park for 10 years, used to swim the crawl exclusively, but switched and has been getting fast times, the best being 1:07.5.

All the stars, coaches, and the whole of the varsity squad, will be at the graduation, and will be lost through graduation.

Divot Diggers

In recent years girls have shown a decided partiality to carrying around a bag of clubs, digging up the turf, and occasionally hitting a tiny white ball... all this going to make up what we moderns call golf. Highland Park proved no exception this year when the link fans teed off for the alma mater.

This year's squad with such top notchers as Janet Gilmore and Marjorie Row as members, ran through the season with but one loss out of four contests. Oct. 19 was the fatal day when the Red and Black triumphed over Blue and White to the tune of 4 to 1, finishing up the season.

Inter-school combats were all run off on the links, one hole at the Palmer Park golf course. Janet Gilmore and Marjorie Row averaged the fast rate in the low fifties, which is pretty fair swing. No holes as ever as a double or triple occurred, or nothing resembling a double was taken although many holes were close together.

Inter-school girls' athletics play day is held wherein all the schools enter their respective teams, putting skill with other schools' representatives merely for the enjoyment they get out of playing. Highland Park boasted having the largest number of golfers entered last year. Nine Parkers played, with Janet Gilmore bringing home second place.

Coach Quigley's divot diggers will have to start off '38 competition handicapped by the loss of leading squad members, for by fall there will be but three varsity golfers remaining—Marjorie Marlow, Marjorie Row and Janet Gilmore.

DeTruscanists

Something new in the form of fencing has been added to the list of sports activities this year. William Besenick has taken over the job of instructing those Parkers who would be aspirants to the Olympic fencing championship, and though the number wasn't so large, there was a lot of enthusiasm.

Although a lot of publicity hasn't been given to this different sort of activity, the boys' auxiliary gym has been the scene of diligent duelling practice. The Parkers try to perfect their lunges on bobbin dommies and those who want something more lifelike to work on, practice on each other.

sports, as the large number who turn out for practice indicates.

This season's varsity squad was picked with due consideration of such veterans as Evelyn Altman, Elaine Hemmingsen, Bettie Mills, Peg Rawle, Ann Robinson, Georgina Schoneman, Margaret Stinson, Irene Walker, and Ethel Welch, who were on hand as experienced netters. These vets will doubtless have had to set the pace if the results prove better than last year. In a four-game series a year ago, the Blue and White lost three matches and tied the fourth. Scheduled for last season's competition were Central who took four matches to our two, Pershing who walked away with five victories and but one defeat, Hamtramck who licked us 5 to 1, and Northern who saved our self respect by tying the match 3 to 3.

Coach Bly Quigley received complimentary tickets for the squad to the exhibition matches played at Olympia. Bill Tilden battled a single match against Perry and the team Perry and Vines took a set of doubles from Tilden and Richards.

ing team finished third in a three team round-robin meet with Cooley and Lawrence Tech. Considering the mere three months' preparation, Blue and White made quite a good showing, in that in several individual bouts, it came out on top.

In the scheduled return match with Lawrence Tech, Parkers trailed by a score of 13 to 9.

Intramural Cagers

Blue and White intramural basketball awards were awarded to the champion twelfth grade team by Coach Bly Quigley, this year's captain of the captain of the twelfth grade.

For the third year in a row the game between the victorious seniors and the successful juniors Eleventh grade cagers who claimed for the championship were Edwards, Lester, Beaman, Lois Goss, Louise Johnson, Hulme, Betty Neff, Len Weis, Barbara Cooley, and Beatrice Luetzel. Luetzel, Len, Skinner, and Kathleen Stess, who captained the squad. Len Weis and her back-breakers tramped on the opponents to the tune of 26 to 0 but it's all in the game.

season composed the better half of the Parker varsity team. Their graduation will open the way for keener and more competition. High scorers for the seniors were Ethel Welch and Jennie Sutherland, who switched from her usual position as guard to a successful player on the forward line.

Intramural Tankers

For the third consecutive time the tenth grade paddlers, fresh over from Junior High swim away with all the honors in the intramural swimming competition.

In the series of three meets which preceded the final three-way meet the sophomores also emerged victorious. The tenth graders drowned the juniors, captained by Beatrice Hamilton, by a score of 61 to 33. Sophomores sank Arlene Supin and her senior squad of notators to the tune of 61 to 26 and members of the eleventh grade paddlers crew outswam the twelfth graders 41 to 32. Carol Funk, as captain of the tenth grade intramural team, led her classmates to a well-earned victory.

Faculty Junior Lake Swimmers were Helen Bankhead, Bea Chapman, Dorothy De Krom, Mary Doudoroff, Len Estman, Jean Franklin, Beatrice Hamilton, Bea Ludwig, Shirley Smith, and Ruby Webb.

Field hockey as a major varsity sport has been gaining in popularity as was very apparent in the turnout for practice last fall. There was a supply of promising new material which proved quite timely, for graduation took Captain Midge Greenwood, Virginia Ciotti, Venita Cruse, Rose Glush, Helen Gross, and Mary Stradtman from the regular squad.

The pucksters, with three veterans on the forward line, tallied the season's results at three wins and two losses. Blue and White came out on top and really showed the stuff of which they were made in their first tilt with Northern's Eskimos. The home team handicapped by rain, exerted one of the most spectacular plays of the season when Jim Bush bailed with Northern's goalie after a ball had been committed to the defense striking circle, and battled over the winning point.

Defeat at the hands of Southeastern and Hantramck clearly showed the necessity for more snappy passwork and pointers on the wielding of sticks. When the Australian field hockey champions stopped at Detroit on its United States tour, members of the local squad took in a profitable demonstration of latest stick and passing technique. At the city wide tournament run off at Central's field, this Australian squad fought a select east side high school team to which Highland Park sent Jeanie Sutherland, powerful half-back, and June Bush, offensive veteran, as representatives.

According to Coach Dell Raleigh, this season's pucksters were a temperamental and a moody crew. In the series of five inter-school contests Parkers played three brilliant games, but when the moods were against them results didn't compare with those of the victorious '35 varsity. Ethel Welch, former goalie who annually gets determined not to spend another fall as keeper of the goal this season advanced to the forward line and earned Mrs. Raleigh's praise as an outstanding attacker.

Cagers

Friday, March 19, the date of the big alumnae game, brought a rather poor season for the feminine cagers to a close. The scrapping '37 varsity, although it never let down on the job, somehow didn't show the stuff it takes to come out on top, and so results of the season amounted to six losses.

Graduation left the Blue and White handrapped by the loss of Jennie Sutherland and Sylvia LaVine, both former regular varsity guards; Olive Webber, veteran forward; and Marion Brown, guard, who didn't add their strength to Parker forces this year.

However, with Ethel Welch, June Bush, Daisy Gray, Margaret Stimpson, and Virginia Stevens back as former fighters on the squad, Coach Bly Quigley's team's sails were filled with confidence. Hamtramck, the initial foe which was met and battled on its own floor, took the girls down a little when it trounced the Bears 28 to 11.

Highland Park alumnae returned March 19 to play one of the most exciting and enjoyable games of the winter. Back on the floor were Irene Soder, Lett, and Sylvia LaVine, 11; Mary Jean Weston, Margaret Johnson, Martha Young, Ruth Scott, Betty Brooks, Wallace Webber, Arlene Kepman, and Sue Serahan. The high school had the lead in the first quarter, slowed down until the last quarter, and rallied to within one point of the alumnae when the whistle ended the tilt, with the alumnae edging out the varsity by a score of 19 to 18. Before the game Coach Quigley was presented with a gift from the alumnae. Captain Margaret Stimpson.

In June Miss Johnson will be left with but one varsity "vet" with whom to start the next season. The only one on the team except Kathleen Streisguth will be alumnae in the fall.

Christmas

Dear Santa Claus, I do not ask
A mess of things from you,

I'm practically perfect now
There's little you need do.

Give me a dash of Crawford's eyes,

The glamour of Garbo

A touch or two of Lombard's hair
Del Ross' fiery glow

Give me the charm that Pickford had,

That something Loy has now,
Give me the glorious voice of Moore

And I'll get by somehow

Labor Day

Labor Day, O Labor Day,

You lovely day of sun and laughter

You should stay with us fore'er
For school awaits the morning after

By gasps ad by wheezes
Are rapidly drivig me nutch!

WHY?

Why is Jake so forlorn? He is obviously not enjoying himself; whereas everyone else is having a swell time. The two Bobs are absorbed in their Taystee hamburgers. Esther is evading the photographer's appraising glance, but Judy sympathizes with poor Jake. She knows he'd have the time of his life if he only had a Taystee hamburger to munch. The five Bears all know----

THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

The duties of an executive secretary call for a peculiar combination of duties. He must have a good general education, but his work is largely practical. He must be used to men, women, and money, must be prepared to receive, to pay, to collect money, and bank all transactions. He must know the language, laws, and customs of business.

He must have a clear, but diplomatic, train of thought, and be able to speak and act for his employer day and night. The D. B. U. Executive-Secretarial Course trains you for this work.
